

About the Authors

Amanda Nemecek

Amanda Nemecek is a Georgetown alumna from the class of 2019 who majored in Human Science on a pre-med track. She was accepted into UNC School of Medicine class of 2026 and plans to pursue a career as a family medicine physician.

Ariyand Aminpour

Ariyand Aminpour is an Urban Health Security Research Fellow at Georgetown University's Center for Global Health Science and Security. He is also a graduate student in Georgetown University's Masters in Global Infectious Disease program with a concentration in policy.

Cathilyn McIntosh

Cathilyn McIntosh is a senior from Sacramento, CA studying biology in College. She is passionate about climate change conservation as well as fungal ecology. She hopes to continue her studies in graduate school researching mycorrhizal fungi and how their ecological services are affected by climate change.

James Bond

James Bond is a senior in the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University, majoring in Science, Technology and International Affairs. In the future, he plans to pursue a career in a policymaking role for areas that govern technologies.